SECTION 4

4 Answer any one from this section

Marks : 10

- 4(a) Climate change is one of the most pressing issues facing the world today. It refers to long-term changes in temperature, precipitation, and other atmospheric conditions on Earth. Human activities, particularly the burning of fossil fuels, deforestation, and industrial processes, have significantly contributed to the increase in greenhouse gases, which trap heat in the atmosphere. This has led to global warming, rising sea levels, and more extreme weather events such as hurricanes, droughts, and floods. Addressing climate change requires international cooperation, policy changes, and the adoption of sustainable practices, such as renewable energy use, conservation efforts, and carbon emission reductions. While the problem is complex and challenging, taking action now can help mitigate its effects and protect future generations.

Questions:

- i. What is the primary cause of climate change mentioned in the paragraph?
- ii. How do human activities contribute to climate change?
- iii. What are some of the consequences of climate change mentioned in the text?
- iv. What are the suggested solutions for addressing climate change in the paragraph?
- v. Why is international cooperation important in combating climate change?
